Holdenby History

- Built in 1583 by Sir Christopher Hatton, Lord Chancellor to Queen Elizabeth 1st
- After Hatton's death it became a royal palace under James 1st of England.
- King Charles I was held prisoner at Holdenby during the English Civil War
- Current house largely dates from the 1870s restoration and incorporates parts of the earlier structures, with beautiful Grade I listed gardens around it.
- Over the years Holdenby has also featured in films and TV (e.g., Great Expectations)
