Spencer Street, Ringstead

Northamptonshire

NN14 4BX

Location:

The site is located on the junction of Denford Road and Spencer Street in the East Northants village of Ringstead, on a brownfield site within a predominantly residential built-up area.

Ringstead is a quiet rural village suitable for small scale infill residential developments as approved on this site. The village sits within the unitary authority of North Northamptonshire, situated on the eastern bank of the navigable River Nene, it lies approximately 15 miles north-east of Northampton and 2.5 miles south-west of Thrapston. Key local landmarks include the 13th-century St Mary's Church, Kinewell Lake, and the historic site of Mallows Cotton.

The heart of the community revolves around several local institutions including the Axe and Compass pub, the local primary school, Ringstead Stores, and the Watermill Tearooms and the village is characterised by a mix of traditional stone-built cottages, established family homes, and modern residential developments.

Site Details:

The site is 0.179 hectares (0.44 acres) and is located within the village settlement of Ringstead. The site of a former factory and Ringstead Business Centre which operated from 2005 after Dodson and Horrell relocated from the site.

The former factory, which occupied the south-west corner of the site, and the bungalow along Denford Road, have been demolished, leaving the office building, facing Spencer Street, on the south-east corner. There is evidence of these former buildings at ground level. The remaining site to the north-east corner is a gravelled parking area for the offices.

The site is not listed or within a Conservation Area.
