Hepscott is an exclusive and highly sought-after village, situated approximately 2 miles from the historic market town of Morpeth. Predominantly stone-built homes are thoughtfully nestled within the surrounding countryside, creating a particularly attractive and peaceful setting, while benefiting from the excellent range of amenities available in nearby Morpeth.

Morpeth is renowned for its excellent choice of primary and secondary schools, making the area particularly popular with families. Of particular note is The King Edward VI School, a well-regarded secondary school which serves a wide catchment area and is an important draw for families looking to live in and around Morpeth. School catchment areas and admission arrangements should, of course, be confirmed with Northumberland County Council. The town provides an excellent range of everyday amenities, including Morrisons supermarket and Sanderson Arcade, which offers a selection of shops, cafés and restaurants within the heart of Morpeth. For commuters, Morpeth railway station provides an excellent mainline service, with regular direct trains to Newcastle Central. The journey can take as little as 13 minutes, with frequent services throughout the day.

Morpeth also benefits from excellent road connections, being located just off the A1, providing convenient access to Newcastle, Northumberland and beyond. Newcastle city centre is approximately 30 minutes' drive, while Newcastle International Airport is also within easy reach, making Hepscott particularly well placed for both commuting and travel.

With its attractive rural setting, predominantly stone-built properties and close proximity to the extensive amenities, schools and transport links of Morpeth, Hepscott is considered one of the area's most desirable village locations, offering an appealing combination of countryside living and everyday convenience.
