Location

The property is situated off Hewell Road, close to the junction with Clive Road), less than 500 m from Redditch Town Centre. Redditch lies 15 miles to the south of the centre of Birmingham where the A441 travelling south meets the A448 from Bromsgrove heading east. Easy motorway access is provided via Junction 2 of the M42 Motorway.

Description

The site extends to 0.892 hectares (2.21 acres), running along the Birmingham Cross City Railway Line. The site is accessed via two entrances and is broadly flat across its length, although there is a retaining wall and concrete slope towards the back of the site.

The site has been extensively concreted and has previously been operating as a vehicle scrap yard under an end of life vehicle licence. The site benefits from secure perimeter fencing along all sides of the premises. There are three separate industrial buildings on the site which are all of typical modern workshop specification, having steel framed structures with brick and block external walls and metal profiled upper elevations and roofing.

To the rear of the site there is an additional building which is open on one elevation.
