Montpelier Street

A Bright, Quiet Second Floor Apartment in Knightsbridge

Set on the second floor of a well-kept Montpelier Street building, this apartment has a soft, elevated calm. Tall sash windows draw light into every room, while a restrained palette and well-proportioned layout make the home feel settled from the moment you step inside.

Designed and dressed by Rigby and Rigby, the apartment begins with a central corridor that anchors the layout. The kitchen uses Bulthaup cabinetry and Gaggenau appliances, arranged around a straightforward island that keeps the space practical and open.

The sitting room sits separately and is finished with engineered timber floors, a stone fireplace and floor-to-ceiling windows fitted with automatic blinds.

Both bedrooms are ensuite. The principal suite has a smooth, well-paced flow, with an integrated dressing area and a bathroom lined in book-matched marble. Double sinks and Crittall-style detailing lend the room a clear structure and a quiet sense of refinement. Air conditioning, Lutron lighting and induction hobs support modern living without interrupting the apartment's pared-back feel.

The result is a home that feels bright, calm and easy to inhabit: a turn-key apartment in a location known for its amenities and sense of connection.

Location

Montpelier Street places the apartment close to Harrods, Harvey Nichols and the designer boutiques of Sloane Street, while Hyde Park and the South Kensington museums are within a short distance. It is a setting that blends everyday access with the character of one of London's most established neighbourhoods.
